Course Description

The Level 2 Award in Awareness of End of Life Care provides essential knowledge and understanding for individuals working in health and social care settings, hospices, care homes, community care, and primary care. This course is designed to help learners deliver compassionate and effective care to individuals approaching the end of life.

It introduces the principles of end of life care, ensuring learners are prepared to address the emotional, physical, and medical needs of individuals and their families during this critical time. By completing this end of life care course, you will be equipped to contribute to compassionate care delivery, ensuring dignity and respect for individuals in their final days.

This training is ideal for those in health and social care roles, particularly those involved in palliative care or supporting individuals nearing the end of life. Whether you are new to the field or seeking to enhance your understanding, this course provides foundational knowledge and practical skills aligned with NHS best practices. You will explore the core principles of palliative and end of life care, including the development and importance of an end of life care plan in maintaining dignity and respect. Additionally, you will learn how to facilitate discussions about the care plan and understand the role of healthcare teams in the end of life care process.
